Skybolt Issue Splits US, UK

LONDON (AP)—The British government said today it failed to reach agreement with the United States on the Skybolt missile.

Tentative U.S. plans to scrap it have put the Anglo-American alliance under heavy strain.

A statement issued by the defence ministry said discussions on the missile will continue. The announcement dealt with the talks in London Tuesday between U.S. Defence Secretary Robert S. McNamara and British Defence Minister Peter Thorneycroft.

The two discussed at length prospects of developing the airborne strategic missile on which Britain has been counting for maintaining its nuclear deterrent. Indications that Sky-

Grave Concern Shown In U.K. Press At Straining Of Relationships

LONDON (Reuters)—The Skybolt missile controversy between the United States and Britain was splashed across the front pages of British newspapers today.

Reporting the talks here Tuesday between U.S. Defence Secretary Robert McNamara and Peter Thorneycroft, his British counterpart, most papers showed grave concern about the implications of the issue in Anglo-American relations.

Douglas Clark, diplomatic correspondent of The Daily Express says:

"The Skybolt row is exposing Anglo-American friendship to its severest test since the war. British ministers take the view that it is not just a defence matter; it is a political issue—and one of the first magnitude."

The Skybolt, key to Britain's nuclear deterrent, may be dropped by the U.S. Under the front-page headline "No, No, No to U.S. Skybolt Shuttle," Chapman Pincer of The Express says an attempt to "lob Britain off with a second-rate H-bomb weapon called 'Hound Dog'." Instead of the Skybolt was made by McNamara.

The Daily Express also publishes an editorial which says: "It is time to stop clinging to the Americans over Skybolt. The time has come for this country to get off its knees."

The Daily Mail uses "tough going as the showdown begins" as its headline.

Pilotless Flight By Plane Said To Be Unprecedented

WATKINS GLEN, N.Y. (AP)—A huge four-engine plane abandoned by its crew in the sky over central New York continued to fly on its own and apparently came down in Labrador, more than 1,000 miles away.

An official at Plattsburgh Air Force Base said that, in his experience, the pilotless flight of the KC-97 air force tanker was unprecedented.

To some persons here, it reminded them of old sea tales of ghost ships, such as the legendary Flying Dutchman.

According to the air force, the plane was in flames when its 10-man crew placed the controls on automatic pilot and ballooned over Watkins Glen Monday night. Yet, when an RCAF fighter intercepted the tanker 100 miles north of Montreal, the fighter pilot saw no flames.

One of the crew members lost his life in the ball-out. The others escaped serious injury.

Howe Sounds Mine Soon At Normal

British Troops Smash Revolution in Brunei

SERIA, Brunei (Reuters)—The five-day revolt in this British protectorate was crumbling fast today as British troops captured Seria's last rebel pocket and freed 45 hostages in a bloodless action.

All but four of the rebels fled without firing a shot as the Highlanders raced up and flung themselves inside the station. The four rebels who remained and were captured carried no arms.

Poett also announced that British troops had captured Kuala Belait in Brunei.

A British Army spokesman reported sporadic sniping this morning in Brunei Town, this and five Eurasians—were being held in the police station of Seria, site of Shell Oil installations, when men of the Queen's Own Highlanders approached under covering fire.

The letter asked the countries to "refuse the importation into their territories of Katanga copper and cobalt whose export is not authorized by the central government in Leopoldville."

The 17 nations to whom the letter was directed are Belgium, Italy, France, West Germany, the United Kingdom, United States, South Africa, Sweden, Portugal, India, Austria, Southern Rhodesia, Denmark, Switzerland, Japan, Brazil and The Netherlands.

Major Policy Statement Hints At 'Necessary Action'

MOSCOW (AP)—Premier Khrushchev said today he is holding President Kennedy to what he called pledges against an invasion of Cuba and warned if they are not kept "we will be compelled to take such actions as the situation requires of us."

Speaking before the Supreme Soviet (parliament), Khrushchev stressed that the United States "anti-invasion" pledge was a main factor in the Soviet Union's withdrawal of rockets were "ready for launching, for action"—but said the Russians had no intentions of bringing them into play for an attack on the U.S.

Khrushchev's speech was billed as a major foreign policy statement, and while he devoted much of it to an explanation of Soviet policy with regard to Cuba, he also touched on other outstanding problems, including that of West Berlin.

REVIVES THREAT The Soviet premier renewed his proposal that western troops in isolated West Berlin be replaced by United Nations troops. He revived his threat that the Soviet Union would sign a separate peace treaty with Communist East Germany if the Western allies reject a treaty with both East and West Germany. By Soviet reckoning, this would cancel western rights in West Berlin.

Khrushchev said Moscow still favors negotiations of disputed questions, but he added that "long patience has an end."

However, he did not set any deadline for action on the German questions, nor did he hint when a separate peace treaty with the Communist regime might be signed.

Khrushchev's statements on Cuba came an hour after he began speaking in the Great Kremlin Hall. The premier said the Soviet Union demonstrated it could preserve world peace. In one of his sharpest attacks on the Chinese Communists, Khrushchev declared:

"During the peaceful adjustment of the conflict in the Caribbean, shrill voices of discontent could also be heard from another quarter, from people who even call themselves Marxists. They are the Chinese. Their actions have nothing in common with Marxism-Leninism."

No Indian Guarantees Given On Cease-Fire Says Nehru

NEW DELHI (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru said today India has given no guarantee it would continue to observe the cease-fire proclaimed in the Himalayas by the Chinese Communists.

"It depends on circumstances," Nehru said. At present India is observing it, the prime minister told Parliament.

Nehru reiterated India's demand that the Chinese withdraw from their recent military gains before there can be any peace talks. Peking has rejected this demand.

Nehru reported 197 Indian soldiers were killed in fighting against the Chinese from the beginning of their all-out offensive Oct. 20 and last Monday. The fighting stopped Nov. 22 with the Chinese cease-fire proclamation, but two more Indian soldiers were killed later.

SAYS 5,174 MISSING Nehru said 291 men were wounded in battle and 5,174 were missing. If the Chinese figures for prisoners were deducted from those unaccounted for on Indian records,

Nehru made a statement to the upper house of Parliament that repeated his statement to the lower house Monday. He then had rejected the terms for a truce that the Chinese had set in their cease-fire and withdrawal proclamation because, he said, they allowed the Chinese to retain the results of their aggression.

GIFTS FOR DIF

There was some amused speculation in Ottawa today that Prime Minister Diefenbaker might hit the winter election trail today, after he received a gift of snowshoes and moccasins from Conservatives, MPs and senators, to mark his six years of party leadership. Said Mr. Diefenbaker afterwards: There was some suggestion the gift might be related to some event not very far distant. But I said I would use them in going from Igloo to Igloo," he added, referring to Liberal criticism of a government program to build roads to northern resources.

Montreal Students Riot: Rip Flag, 'Burn' Gordon

MONTREAL (CP) — More than 100 students of Montreal's McGill University pulled down the Red Ensign Tuesday night from the flagpole in front of the university's main building, a 11-story skyscraper in downtown Montreal, tore it to shreds and stung up a flaming effigy of CNR president Donald Gordon in its place.

Traffic on eight-lane Dorchester Boulevard was tied up for two hours. Seven demonstrators were arrested as they hurled overshoes, sticks and snowballs at 30 policemen guarding the front entrance of the Queen Elizabeth Hotel opposite Place Ville Marie.

Meanwhile, Mr. Gordon was in his office on the 17th floor of the adjacent CNR building, meeting with a delegation of four students who had come to protest against statements he made before the Commons railway committee last month.

"I think most of these misundstandings have been cleared up," the CNR president said after the meeting.

He had told the railway committee in testimony Nov. 20-23 there were no French-speaking Canadians among the CNR's top 25 officials because of a lack of qualified applicants, not because of discrimination. A few days after his testimony he issued a statement saying French-Canadians occupied 13 per cent of the executive positions in the publicly-owned railroad.

Mr. Gordon said he told the four students—Bernard Landry, Guy Tremblay, Pierre Marois and Louis Duval—that CNR policy on bilingualism is to provide officers who speak both languages where the public needs them.

MAKING 'SATISFIED'

He said it was clear to him in the interview with the students that some of his testimony before the railway committee had been reported "quite inaccurately" in newspapers and on television and radio.

Delegate Marois said he was "very satisfied" with the interview. It was conducted in English and French, with Mr. Gordon speaking in English.

Marois said reporters the student demonstration had become unruly because "other groups had joined it and 'we couldn't control them'."

Quebec separatist sentiment was evident in some of the placards carried by demonstrators and in stickers plastered to walls in the CNR station.

The stickers read "Quebec: Rebellion 1837, revolution 1963" and "Quebec: A free country—why not?"

The demonstrators were dispersed at about 6 p.m. after betting police in an attempt to gain access to the CNR office building and the Queen Elizabeth Hotel.

U.S. Lumbermen Act Fast To Nab Canadian Trade

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. Northwest lumber men are moving quickly to take advantage of a law they feel will help them capture part of the Canadian-held lumber market in Puerto Rico.

They contend the Puerto Rican market was lost mainly because Canadians can use low-rate foreign ships to haul lumber while domestic producers must use only U.S. flag ships.

The new law, enacted in October, permits the secretary of commerce to suspend the foreign ship ban if domestic carriers are not "reasonably available" to haul cargoes of lumber to Puerto Rico.

Immediately before his appointment as ambassador, he was head of the U.S. mission to the European Common Market, coal and steel community and atomic energy.

UN Makes Widespread Appeal For Co-Operation In Space

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — The United Nations political committee made a new appeal Tuesday for worldwide co-operation in a series of space projects including a satellite communications system and more effective weather forecasting.

The appeal was part of a detailed resolution sponsored by the United States, the Soviet Union and 22 other countries. It was approved unanimously by the 110-nation committee and is expected to win quick ratification by the General Assembly.

Canada is a co-sponsor of the resolution and the appeal for a single communications system in outer space was a highlight of the speech by Ambassador Paul Tremblay to the committee a week ago.

The committee's action followed an announcement last week that the U.S. and the Soviet Union already had agreed to co-operate in communications and meteorological projects during the coming year.

The resolution called for continued study by the UN's 24-nation committee on the peaceful uses of outer space on various aspects of the space problem. It noted with regret that the space group had failed to agree on a legal code governing space and asked it to tackle the legal problem on an urgent basis.

It called specifically for the elaboration of a set of legal principles on the uses of space and on liability for space vehicle accidents and on assistance to astronauts involved in forced landings.

We Can't Be Proud Of This Parliament

The Canadian Parliament will soon be adjourning for its Christmas recess after having been in session since September 27th. During that near-three-month period it has accomplished just about nothing.

A few little pieces of legislation have been passed and some of the country's major problems have been touched on in a general way but none of the economic reforms promised by the government has been presented to Parliament.

It is now suggested that Parliament will continue to sit for another three or four months, before an election is called. Unless there is a very drastic change, this means that another three or four months will be lost in fruitless talk.

The talk is fruitless because there is a virtual stalemate in Parliament. The government, of course, blames the opposition for the lack of progress. It says much time is lost because of the petty and pointless questions asked by opposition members, their long speeches and the political manoeuvring of the opposition parties.

The opposition in return claims that the government has only presented to Parliament bills of a minor nature and has failed to tell Parliament its plans for the solution of the economic and financial troubles of the country, the only things which basically matter.

Mr. Diefenbaker claims his plans are ready and only await the finishing of the necessary routine business before being introduced. It is rather puzzling that important legislation must await the completion of unimportant routine business before being introduced. One would have thought the contrary to be the case. If Mr. Diefenbaker chose to introduce his important economic legislation, it is more than probable that Parliament would drop everything else to consider it. After all, what opposition party would dare label itself as an upholder of red tape by opposing consideration of the important affairs of the country. If Mr. Diefenbaker chose to introduce important measures, those measures would be considered quickly by the House and approved, amended or rejected. No opposition party could do else.

It would seem Mr. Diefenbaker is playing for time in the hope that the longer the delay the better his election chances will become. It may be that he knows full well that his proposals will not meet the wishes of the Social Credit group and, consequently, once his proposals are introduced into the House, the defeat of his government is inevitable.

The Liberal opposition, of course, has been playing politics too since the session opened. It wants to defeat the government as it feels the present government is detrimental to the welfare of the country. Rightly or wrongly, the Liberals believe it is their duty to defeat the present government if they can.

The two splinter parties feel the same way, but for reasons of their own do not want to see the government defeated at this time. They denounce the government day after day, but in the clutch vote to keep it in office.

The situation at Ottawa is not one to make any Canadian proud. Nor are the machinations of the principal characters involved such as to inspire confidence in them. It is difficult to see how there can be any progress on the solution of any basic problem until the political stalemate is resolved. Every day of manoeuvring, wrangling and jockeying in the House demonstrates that. The solution is for the stalemate to be broken but this would seem unlikely until there is a general election.

In Defence Of Scotch

Scottish whisky manufacturers are hotly denying the claims of a Japanese company that it can make whisky of a quality equaling the best from Highland malt distilleries. The Japanese manufacturers say their new product combines the "enchantment of gossamer wings" with the kick of a high quality Scotch. They claim that this is made possible by a mild, misty climate, and peat specially imported from Scotland for distillation and help in the aging process.

The famous Scottish whisky firms, however, say that "smooth, delicious and distinctive" though the Japanese whisky may be, it is not Scotch and will never be accepted as such by the connoisseur. Most Scots would claim that Scottish weather is quite unique; and the quality of water in the Highland burns of Speyside, and on the west coast, defies complete chemical analysis. The type of water used in distillation are the secret of centuries, and the local whisky manufacturers say that it is impossible to develop a satisfactory imitation "without proper initiation to the mysteries."

One famous Scotch whisky taster recalls that a Speyside firm experimented unsuccessfully for several years, attempting to produce a malt whisky in a new vat identical to an ancient installation 50 yards away. The same burn water was used in the process and the measurement of the new vat was very similar to the original, but the final product, matured for the customary seven years, was "quite different" from the subtle, mellow taste of the old product. —Nanaimo Free Press.

In Passing

Although a man doesn't know much about a woman, he knows a great deal more than he can do anything about.

A person's curiosity invariably triumphs over his experience when he receives a notice of a postage-due letter.

A man can be certain his age is beginning to tell on him when an old flame doesn't seem so hot to him.

It may be that many a person drives fast because he doesn't know where he's going and he is in a hurry to satisfy his curiosity.

An editor says women are beginning to learn how to be politicians. Shucks, they've known how since Eve.

It would be more fitting to call the disarmament conference, again in session, the disagreement conference.

It is remarkable that when authorities asked for volunteers to look for a naked blonde seen running in the woods near Leland, N.C., nobody was seriously injured in the immediate ensuing rush.

There are many indications that fools have more fun than anybody.

NORAD Now 5 Years Old—Still Mostly Misunderstood

OTTAWA (CP)—North American Air Defence Command, a joint Canadian-U.S. undertaking to try to prevent war, is five years old. Like any five-year-old, it is still growing—and still partly misunderstood.

NORAD was established as a purely defensive command in 1957. It cannot start a war, nuclear or conventional, even by accident. It would go into action only when enemy bombers were overhead. And its weapons can't reach the Soviet Union, even supposing one were fired by accident.

Before 1957, Canada and the U.S. had long had their separate air defence commands and they worked closely together. But it was felt that because, for air defence purposes, the two countries are a single unit, air defence operations should be even more closely knit under a single headquarters.

NORAD, with headquarters at Colorado Springs, Colo., was the result. The West's chief arm of retaliation against any Soviet aggression is the Strategic Air Command of the U.S. Air Force. SAC is the main deterrent to war because the U.S.S.R. if it planned to strike, would know in advance it would have to take a massive counter-blow which might destroy it.

But SAC in itself has never been considered a complete deterrent, if there is such a thing. It would have to be protected so that its bombers could not be caught on the ground and incinerated in any sneak attack. NORAD is SAC's protector.

NORAD is responsible for two things: providing warning of any air or space attack on North America and fighting the defensive air battle. Billions of dollars have been spent for these purposes.

When NORAD was formed, the basic elements of air defence already existed: jet interceptors and radars for warning and interceptor control. But since its establishment there has been a vast improvement in capabilities. Here are some examples:

NORAD now has a ballistic missile early warning system in Alaska and Greenland to provide some 15 to 30 minutes warning of intercontinental rocket assault.

It has a system to track—and keep track of—all space vehicles, whether satellites or burned-out rockets.

ANTI-MISSILE MISSILE
The U.S. Army has successfully test-fired a Nike-Zeus rocket designed to destroy ballistic missiles in space.

The Distant Early Warning radar line across northern

Alaska and the Canadian Arctic has been extended far into the Aleutians, on the west and across Greenland and Iceland to Britain on the east.

There are 10 bases, two in Canada, with 28 launching pads each for the Bomarc-B anti-aircraft missile which has a range of some 400 miles.

An electronic control network known as SAGE (Semi-Automatic Ground Environment) has been built to provide faster and more efficient control over manned and unmanned interceptors.

U.S. interceptors, including some in the National Guard (reserve squadrons), are equipped with nuclear air-to-air rockets.

RCAF Air Defence Command this year was equipped with a new interceptor, the American CF-101B Voodoo supersonic jet.

An atomic reactor provides the power for the U.S. Air Force radar station on a mountaintop at Sundance, Wyo.

BOMBER STILL THREAT
NORAD is far from content with this build-up, however.

It wants a long-range jet to intercept any enemy bombers much farther north. This requirement has been dictated by the advent of the air-to-ground missile which can be fired by a bomber when it is still hundreds of miles from its target.

NORAD is working on a back-up system for SAGE so that it would still have control over interceptors even if SAGE were knocked out in an attack.

It will put its headquarters deep underground in Cheyenne Mountain near Colorado Springs.

And it wants, of course, the Canadian government to accept nuclear warheads for the Bomarc and Voodoo.

The NORAD agreement runs to 1967. Officials say the bomber threat will last much longer than that and that there is little doubt the agreement will be renewed.

RCAF Air Marshal Roy Slemon, deputy commander of NORAD, now is working with—not under—the third U.S. NORAD commander. Last year, Slemon was in charge some two-thirds of the time.

OTTAWA REPORT

War Museum For Canada

By PATRICK NICHOLSON

Canada's long and glorious military record has attracted the interest of a famous veteran of our two greatest wars. He has conceived the project of recording this aspect of our history in an appropriate National War Museum. Fortunately for Canada, he is now in just the right position to inaugurate his imaginative and worthwhile idea to round out our national heritage.

This double veteran is Hon. Gordon Churchill, who is now appropriately our minister of veterans affairs.

He joined the army before his 18th birthday, and served overseas as a Vickers machine gunner from 1916 to 1919. Twenty years later, he was among the first Canadians to put on uniform. From 1939 to 1945 he served with the Fort Garry Horse, and then was appointed commanding officer of the 1st Canadian Armoured Carrier Regiment in the Normandy invasion. By war's end, he had risen to the rank of colonel and had been awarded the Distinguished Service Order.

OTHER COUNTRIES' EXAMPLE

Mr. Churchill is a thinking man. He is deeply interested in our history, especially our political and military past. In other countries, he has visited war museums and studied the preservation of battlefield areas. He has been impressed by the battlefield of Gettysburg, U.S.A., which our neighbors have laid out, preserved and memorialized as a national shrine marking the high tide of the Confederate advance in the war between the States. This public showplace, he remarks, is visited by 1,500,000 tourists every year. He has also visited, and has formed ideas for improving, our great shrine at Vimy.

By comparison with other countries, Canada has done very little in this field. We do have an inadequately small war museum in Ottawa, tucked away behind a huge and hideous temporary shack dedicated to the scheduled bed-and-board of the government typists. We do have some quite remarkable war field sites and interesting restored forts scattered widely about the country. The unregenerated Plains of Abraham at Quebec City is our most famous but least interesting military showplace. By contrast the battlefield at Salsche, Saskatchewan, and the rebuilt "Habitat" of Champlain in Nova Scotia are complete and thrilling. Fort Henry at Kingston, Ontario, attracts many tourists in the summer, when it is manned by students wearing the "red coat" uniforms of the period. The battlefield of Crysler's Farm, 50 miles south of Ottawa on the bank of the St. Lawrence, is marked by a new and very interesting memorial chamber describing the triumph of a small Canadian-Indian force over two American armies.

STORY TO BE TOLD

But such scattered souvenirs haphazardly promoted do not offer a coordinated and grouped history of Canada's military achievements.

An example of how our history books might be rounded out by a true national war museum was recently seen in the National Archives here. That was a comprehensive exhibition describing the events of the summer of 1959, when a British fleet sailed up the St. Lawrence carrying General James Wolfe's army, to establish its camp on the Isle of Orleans, and ultimately, after various unsuccessful attacks at Montmorency and elsewhere, to make the historic climb up the goat track to the Heights of Abraham.

The details of this proposed Canadian National War Museum remain to be worked out. But Hon. Gordon Churchill has sown the seed of the idea which, it is to be hoped, will one day come to full flowering in an impressive visual presentation of the complete story of our military history, from the earliest days.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

RUBBISH IN LAKE

Sir: Further to T. B. Upton's letter concerning the Okanagan Mission Waterworks, a public meeting of Dec. 3, I agree that this spectacle of democracy at work left much to be desired.

As an outside observer I was reminded strongly of Kipling's poem "Road-Song of the Band-Log." It's a bit lengthy to quote in a letter but undoubtedly those likely to appreciate it's message will know where to find it. I confine myself to the last two lines:

"By the rubbish in our wake,
and the noble noise we make
Be sure, be sure we're going to do some splendid things."

Yours truly,
M. F. PAINTER

RATHER DEAD THAN TANK!

Sir:

I have never before written a letter to a newspaper, but after reading your editorial "We Grovel and Fawn," Dec. 7, I wish you to know that I have absolutely no doubt whatsoever that I am a CANADIAN and I have the fortitude to declare this fact anywhere to anyone, a fact that makes me very proud and humble. Furthermore, I have the intestinal fortitude to submit that before fawning and groveling to any American, I would commit myself to an institute for the deaf.

Before criticizing the CBC (whom anyone with the slightest lot of common sense knows are a bunch of incompetent) criticize your own merchants and businessmen who fawn and grovel over the Yanks till an honest to goodness Canadian gets thoroughly nauseated.

I have lived in many places where our very good friends, the Yanks have stationed their GI's. Believe me, from the lowliest GI (if the Americans will admit to such an animal) to their so-called Big Shots, they have the utmost disregard and contempt for any and everything Canadian. They firmly believe everything we possess is theirs either by birth or for the taking, or failing this, it can be bought (for which the government we now have in power is at fault).

It is my humble opinion that there is not a great deal of difference between the Yanks and their Russian cousins, perhaps, and I say this with considerable doubt, the Yanks have a little more gall.

In closing I wish to sincerely state that I for one would fight any Yank or insane Canuck who makes the faintest suggestion of turning Canada into an (ishrah the thought) American State.

I should rather be dead, than be a Yank.

I remain,
SINCERELY A CANADIAN
Olive Lois Burk.

P.S.: I have never before been so ashamed of the political party in power in Canada as I was when I saw the Yank flag shown in our own country for our own football game. How can a political party sink to allow Canada to be ridiculed in this fashion.

PROFESSORS SLAPPED

Sir: Much has been written about the remarks of Professors Remnant and Stroll of the UBC, whose opinions have been in line with the Communists' anti-God campaign. The very name of that movement seems an admission of that which they would destroy, as no one would commit themselves to a campaign against something they were convinced was non-existent.

However, little has been heard of the move lately. I have no doubt that a Russian scientist will some day discover God.

All through the history of the human race, men have believed in God, and an afterlife, and have worshipped after their own fashion. And for as many years there have been those who have tried by one means or another to stamp out whatever beliefs did not agree with their own. But all in vain.

The observations of Professor Stroll seem too naive for anyone to give a second thought to. They were on a line with the remarks of the Russian astronaut, who said he had not seen God when he was travelling through space.

In his letter to the paper of Dec. 8, W. Morrison tells us that religion is wobbling. It would seem nearer the truth to say that the understanding of what is meant to be religion is wobbling. Instead of attacking others, would it not be better to have what has been described as a clear-cut and considered opinion upon these matters, so that we can meet the challenges that are being put out today.

Listening to some programs that come into one's house, one is shocked to learn that there are many who can not even answer their children's questions about God.

And it might be as well to look into the underground workings of the many secret societies that are out to undermine any form of religion, stable government, even family life, art and music, and those things which have led us to a mode of life, which, in spite of its shortcomings, has given us those four freedoms for which many thousands gave their lives.

Westbank Garden Club Members And Friends Enjoy Supper Party

Garden Club members, their families and friends, thoroughly enjoyed the potluck supper which was held in the Westbank Community Hall Friday. Partaking of the appetizing hot dishes, which included home-baked meat pies, old-fashioned baked beans, turkey, jellied salads and a host of side-dishes and desserts were 50 grown-ups and youngsters.

Games were enjoyed after the meal. The club president, A. M. Thompson, commended executive members for their excellent planning of the entire evening. Specially mentioned was supper convener Mrs. Joe LaLonde, appointed to the entertainment committee following the death of J. S. Wilson, and whose artistic talents were evident in the table decorations. In this she had been assisted by Mrs. Tom Lunt and Mr. Thompson.

Mr. Thompson extended hearty thanks for her part in preparation of the hall, and also for the gaily-lit Christmas tree Mrs. A. F. Johnson, secretary, also was commended for her continuous work in promoting garden club interests.

SANTA DISPENSED GIFTS
During the early part of the evening Santa, whose role was taken by Mrs. J. H. Johnson, dispensed gifts which had previously been placed beneath the tree, and soon the party became gay and informal, the girls and boys taking as active a part as the adults.

In reviewing the first year of the Garden Club's existence, Mr. Thompson said that considerable interests in gardens had been awakened with the contest, won this year by Oliver Walker. Next summer gardens will be divided into two sections, large and small, which will increase interest and give owners of small gardens a chance to enter the contest. ## Children Stay Still For Artist Parents

MONTREAL (CP) — Unlike most children, Wendy, 7, and Anne, 5, of Montreal, are accustomed to staying still—sometimes with bolts of cloth draped around them.

They're the children of artist Joseph Prezmant and his wife, who works under her maiden name, Rita Briensky. When the children are asked to stand or sit still it's usually because one of their parents is doing a quick sketch of them.

"Sometimes they don't know I'm sketching them," said Polish-born Mrs. Prezmant in an interview. "Other times they're aware of it and will hold a pose—though not for too long. Sometimes I have to bribe them, with a nickel or a dime, but generally they're co-operative. If I'm having trouble with the folds of a garment on a girl I'm painting, for instance, I'll ask one of them to drape a cloth around her so I can see how it should be."

"This is all natural to them. They have lived with it all their lives, so it doesn't bother them."

The children have become quite astute critics. "They're exposed to so much art here that I think they have an awareness that other children might not have," she said. "Both are good critics and Anna, the elder of the two, can analyse a painting very well—why she likes or dislikes it. In fact she's so good I'm afraid to show her my paintings."

Sing Along At Home!

Dear Ann Landers: Is there any hope for someone who can't carry a tune? I'm one of those unfortunate individuals who loves music but I never know if I am off key.

I've had this problem since childhood. My third grade teacher scolded me for lousing up the Christmas caroling. She suggested I just move my lips. This was a severe blow to my pride.

I enjoy singing in church and at lodge meetings. It gives me a lift to sing the Star Spangled Banner and The Battle Hymn of the Republic. After a few bars my wife gives me a sharp poke in the ribs and tells me to pipe down.

I've tried to stand silent while others sing but it's more embarrassing than singing off key. People assume I don't know the words.

This problem may seem trivial to you but it is important to me and I need a solution.

—MUSIC LOVER.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a physician in San Juan, Puerto Rico. My wife is in the U.S. attending a business convention. A few hours ago I received a letter from her telling me she had a delightful time last evening with a gentleman who is also attending the convention.

Splits And Eyebrows Go Up Now The Girls Use Zippers

SINGAPORE (Reuters) — The zipper is enjoying its finest hour in Singapore—enabling cheongsam slits, and male eyebrows, to rise as the lights dim.

The cheongsam is that simply elegant garment with a high, formal collar and provocative slits in the skirt which Chinese girls wear so well.

A few Western women try to use the cheongsam to exploit their charms, but many can match the cool elegance of their Chinese sisters in this garment.

The basic style of the cheongsam is immutable, but the height of the slit is a matter of personal choice. More demure girls have the slit only a little above the knee. But from then on, the way is up, with only limiting factors being the courage of the wearer.

The more daring young misses of Singapore have the slits reaching two-thirds of the way up the thigh.

But the zipper has brought flexibility to the cheongsam. Thus, a girl can be innocently demure in the office and for general daytime wear, then tug at the zipper to raise the slit for the evening.

The zipper now in fashion can set the height of the slits anywhere from two or three inches above the knee to two-thirds of the way up the thigh.

The coming of the twist, too, has had its effect. The cheongsam fits like a glove, with little room for manoeuvring, and the extra height of the slits is needed for freedom in such dances as the twist.

The President gave a vote of thanks to Mrs. Norman Fredrick and all those who worked so hard to make their recent Bazaar sale such a great success.

Every effort was made to rescue a pigeon caught high up in an electric wire at Rutland but as it was impossible to get the bird down this suffering was ended with a quick shot.

Good homes were found for three dogs, and a plucky but pitiable little dog was picked up in Glenmore, with his shaggy coat full of porcupine quills. After weeks of medical attention he has now almost recovered and is beginning to enjoy life again in his new home.

The President gave a vote of thanks to Mrs. Norman Fredrick and all those who worked so hard to make their recent Bazaar sale such a great success.

Good Foods That Can Wait When Your Guests Are Late

By IDA BAILEY ALLEN

When guests or the family are likely to be late to dinner, plan to serve foods that can wait.

"Such as melon, grapefruit or a fruit cup for the first course," suggested the Chef.

"Or oysters on the half shell or shrimp cocktail. A hot clear soup will stand indefinitely."

MEAT OR POULTRY
"The entree should be meat or poultry cooked with moist heat so it can be kept warm without drying out," I suggested.

"Coq-au-vin—chicken with wine—roast turkey or potted duck are suitable. So are all ragouts and pot roasts. Meats to be rare must be served soon after preparing."

"Casseroles keep moist if closely covered and set in a pan of hot water over low heat. All green vegetables can wait over boiling water, but others with strong flavors develop unpleasant odors on standing. All savory sauces thickened with flour or cornstarch can wait, but if thickened with egg yolks alone they must be served at once, as they separate on standing."

INDIVIDUAL SALADS
"Salads should be individually arranged and the dressing passed on serving; otherwise it makes the greens limp after standing," observed the Chef.

"And for an effective finale, dessert should be cold. Coffee, of course, should be brewed just before serving. If guests are quite late, better make a fresh potful."

MONDAY DINNER

Surprise Win For Kelowna

VERNON (Staff) — The last gasp with his first goal of the game Kelowna Packers pulled tight.
A surprise victory over the league-leading Vernon Canadians with a 6-4 victory in Vernon Tuesday before an estimated 125 fans.

Despite the loss, Canadians maintain a three-point lead over Kamloops Chiefs in league standings.

Nick Buloch and Brian Casey were the big guns for the Packers, each bagging two goals, while singles went to Brian Roche and Jackie Howard. Don Jakes led the Canadians with two while Alex Kashube and Jim Pilla picked up singles.

Kelowna opened the scoring at the 7:47 mark of the first period with Nick Buloch grabbing his first of the night on an assist from Hugs Jones. Buloch also nabbed his second goal late in the first when Howard assisted. Time of the goal was 14:13.

In the second period, with only 36 seconds gone, Howard moved the Packers further into the lead and Buloch combined.

Canadians finally hit the scoreboard at the 3:37 mark of the second frame with Kashube and Jakes teaming up for the goal. Less than two minutes later, Jakes closed the game.

TWO MORE

Kelowna chalked up two more before the period ended with Dennis Casey and Roche each netting Jones and Evans drew assists on both goals.

At the 12:58 mark of the third frame, Casey picked up his second of the night when he took a pass from Duck, stick-handled in front of the Canadians net and beat net.

In the later part of the period, Vernon staged a hard come-back and were rewarded with two goals.

Pilla, assisted from playing coach Otis Lowe combined at the 16:26 mark while Jakes along with teammates Art Davison and Lowe netted the final goal of the evening. Time — 19:23.

Nine penalties were called, including a game misconduct. The Packers took seven, along with the game misconduct going to Defenseman George Boychuk following a hassle with referee Bill Varsoy.

The Canadians travel to Kamloops Sunday for an afternoon game and will host the Chiefs in Vernon on Dec. 26, which will also be a 2:30 p.m. game.

Vernon Boy Scouts Among 39 From B.C. To Visit Jamboree

VERNON (Staff) — A 15-year-old Vernon Boy Scout has been awarded the thrill of his young life.

David Martyn Hett is one of 39 Scouts chosen to represent the 60,000 Boy Scouts in British Columbia at the 11th Boy Scout World Jamboree at Marathon, Greece, during 1963.

David, a grade 10 student at Vernon Senior High School, will leave Vancouver by train about July 23 next year to join 400 others at a camp in Ontario, before embarking on special aircraft for the flight to Greece. The group will be away about one month.

Cost of the trip is being borne by the boys themselves and some are now working at odd jobs for the adventure. David is lucky. As a present, his grandparents in Victoria will foot the bill for him.

The jamboree site is near the ancient city of Marathon where the Olympic games were held during the great days of the old Greek civilization. Boy Scouts from almost every country not under Communist domination will be camped together in a vast city of tents.

World jamborees are held every four years and locations are selected by the World Conference of Scouting from applications submitted by countries willing to host the events.

David, a first class Scout, said plans are under way after the jamboree to tour Greece and perhaps other countries close by.

W. G. H. Roaf, provincial commissioner of Scouts recently reported that the selection boards had a "most difficult" time deciding among the many applicants to fill the few places allotted to B.C. Only those boys with the highest standing in Scout work and whose characters exemplify the Scouting ideals were chosen.

The boys were recommended by their Scoutmasters and district commissioners and in most cases were personally interviewed by regional selection boards. David's father was transferred recently to Williams Lake where he took up duties as Indian agent. The family, however, still live in Kalo Vista but will move to the Cariboo after the school term.

FLAME OF PROGRESS GLOWS IN VERNON

A flame of progress lit the Vernon skyline Tuesday, as a 1903 vintage home, a landmark, but burned by the fire department to make room for an ultra modern motel. It took demolition crews three hours to strip the building, and the fire department four hours to burn it. The motel is now under construction on the corner lot situated at 34th Avenue and Highway 97 in Vernon. — (Courier photo)

Integration Of Kindergartens Urged By President Of PTA

VERNON (Staff) — Kindergarten should be integrated into the school system, according to Mrs. D. K. Campbell, president of the Vernon Parent Teacher Association. She made the remarks at a school trustee meeting Tuesday night.

Following a questionnaire to parents of kindergarten-aged children in which the question: do you favor incorporating kindergarten into the elementary schools of Vernon and District No. 22? was asked, an affirmative answer of two to one was received by the PTA.

Mrs. Campbell told trustees the executive of the association feels that the figures indicate interest enough in the integration of kindergartens to warrant study by the school board.

Square Dancers Ignore Press

VERNON (Staff) — Has the Press any power? Not much, according to Mrs. Ivy Wisemiller, principal of West Vernon Elementary School.

Last month, The Daily Courier published a story emanating from a school board meeting, in which it was noted square dancers should wear softer shoes when dancing on school gym floors. Maintenance men say floors are being ruined in certain areas with the concentration of squares.

"After the newspaper story," Mrs. Wisemiller told trustees at board meeting Tuesday, "the floor was worse than ever, especially on the stage where the caller is."

She did not advocate square dancers be banned from the gym, noting it was built for public use, but stressed dancers should wear soft shoes.

"We train the children to use gym shoes, it's disturbing to them and us when we see adults do not."

About 2,000 questionnaires were distributed by PTA of which 728 were returned marked: negative, 251, positive, 477. Residents in two school areas, Silver Star and West Vernon, showed a three-to-one ratio in favor, only Bealro School showed less than a two to one in favor with 177 for integration, 122 against.

TEACHER PROBLEM

Schools' superintendent Floyd Irwin confirmed that the need is in Vernon for about 170 kindergarten children, but the same time stressed that if such a scheme was adopted by the school district, a qualified teacher with a valid ED certified (two years university training) must be hired. A primary teacher would be ideal, he said.

While trustee Francis G. deWolf said more information on possible enrollment was necessary before the board could proceed, the PTA said they would be prepared to organize a public debate or panel discussion on the subject. Trustees will study the request.

Transportation for the tots would pose no problem to the school board, Mrs. Campbell said. School buses would not be used, but instead, mothers would organize car pools to take children to and from the school. Additional classrooms would have to be built, she claimed and to fully utilize the classrooms, classes must be held morning and afternoon. Fees per child would probably not exceed those now paid for private kindergartens, she added.

Mrs. Campbell said it was the hope of the PTA that integration could be established in elementary schools by fall.

NOTTINGHAM, England (CP) — The staff of a local firm hired a train for its Christmas party. About 500 persons dined and danced from Nottingham to London. The total cost was $1,200.

Embryo Teachers To Wear Crests

VERNON (Staff) — The school board will pay for crests to be worn by members of the Future Teachers' Club, it was decided Tuesday.

Students were asked this month by the board if they wanted the crests, and the 30-member club indicated the crests would be worn. Cost to the school board is about $7.50.

Council Queries Bond Interest

VERNON (Staff) — City council has asked the provincial government about disposition of $434,000, the amount raised by debentures as the city's share of proposed extension building at Jubilee Hospital.

B.C. Hospital Insurance Service has failed to approve building the extension after health minister Eric Martin said he would not recommend approval of extension plans while the hospital is experiencing difficulties with operating finances.

Deputy Minister of Affairs J. E. Brown, replied to council that it will not be necessary in 1963 to increase interest on the bonds and the surplus can be left in the 1964 account, or for when the building does start.

Recently, North Okanagan MLA and speaker of the legislature Hugh Shantz appealed to Minister Martin for immediate government approval of the extension program.

He said he noted Kamloops has been given approval for its hospital addition and that the general interest rate is at a lower level than Vernon's when the minister visited here in September.

Mr. Shantz said at that time BCHIS recommended alterations to the Vernon hospital's existing boiler plant, but he contended this would be a complete waste of funds as a new one must be built shortly.

Exams May Prevent Students Entering Valley Music Fest

VERNON (Staff) — Senior high school students here may not participate in the Okanagan Valley Music Festival, scheduled in Kelowna, April 1-6.

Principal D. L. Marrs, informed the school board Easter exams must be held April 3-11 as it is the only set of school formal exams and it is considered a most important rehearsal for the department exams in June. He said for many years the school has found it good policy to write Easter exams just before the holidays as it holds the students up until the last day and gives teachers a chance to get marking done during the holidays.

Mr. Marrs said it was impossible to reschedule the exams later as extensive returns to the department of education must be in by mid-May.

He said he was sorry to note the conflict between the exams and the festival, but could not suggest a solution.

The music festival committee earlier endeavored to secure alternate dates for the Kelowna festival, but the parent Canadian Music Festival Association did not approve them.

Regier Visits Here Saturday

VERNON (Staff) — Erhart Regier, former NDP MP from Burnaby-Coquitlam who resigned his seat in favor of his national leader Tommy Douglas, will visit Vernon Saturday.

Mr. Regier will meet friends and supporters at a luncheon in the Allison Hotel at noon. He is now national organizer for the New Democratic Party and has been nominated to contest Fraser Valley riding in the next federal election.

Mr. Regier will address a public meeting in the Legion Hall, Enderby, 8:30 p.m. Dec. 15, following a dinner in his honor.

Vernon Students Travel; Find a Different System

JOAN PENNEY
Vernon Senior High

Each year four students from Vernon senior high visit Okanagan, Washington for a week, in return for four Okanagan students who come here. This is known as the exchange student plan. This year the four students from Vernon were Heather Martin, representing grade 10, Peter Kuller, representing grade 11, Joanne Halko, grade 12, and Norbert Drewell, also of grade 12.

These young people were billeted from Monday to Thursday with students from Okanagan High, whose classes they attended.

The Kiwanis Club of Vernon transported our exchange students to Penticton, where they met their American escorts with whom they continued their trip.

The Vernon students found the American school to be very different from our own as Okanagan High is not only smaller than VHS, but it is also junior-senior. The school is ingeniously arranged with the juniors on the ground floor, and the seniors above them on the top floor. It surprised Vernon to find that there are no girls sport teams in Okanagan. Apparently it is considered unfeminine to have such teams, and sports are practiced only in gym class. Vernon's larger selection of courses was another difference noticed, along with the fact that the Okanagan high school has six classes a day, while VHS has only five.

Torch needs help! Unless more students turn out to assist Fearon Whitney, the editor, there may not be a Christmas issue. This is regrettable, as the Christmas Torch has always been very good, and was something to look forward to.

Fearon is going to call a general meeting soon, so, would-be newspaper workers, turn out!

Our girls' basketball team has been very active lately. An exhibition tournament was held over the weekend, and although our girls didn't manage to win, they had the highest number of points scored for, and the fewest against them in a single game.

High scorers for Vernon were Lorraine Jantz and Rosilla

Sochan. Friday's game was won by Kamloops, 28-19. Four games were played Saturday, of which Vernon won three, losing the other to Salmon Arm. We meet Salmon Arm Friday night and after the game a sock-hop will be held. With a basketball booster ticket, admission is free, otherwise it is 25-cents.

But a little credit where credit is due! The boys' basketball team have been shining also, emerging on top from a meeting with Revelstoke last weekend. Score: 70-35.

The Commercial club is making a noble effort to strengthen school spirit by selling stationery embossed with letters VHS in blue. This is very distinctive, and at 75-cents a package is selling rapidly. The funds raised from this activity will go to the club, and will help finance the commercial awards, given on honors day at the end of the year.

A similar project has been undertaken by the students' council, that of selling school Christmas cards. These are only 10-cents each, and bear the school motto in Latin.

Crisis "Leak" Mystery Still Baffles Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — Still unsettled, like a lingering sore, to the question: Who revealed what went on when President Kennedy decided on a showdown with the Soviet Union over its missiles in Cuba?

He asked after getting the views of his National Security Council in a highly secret session. The council members are among the most important men in government.

This week the Columbia Broadcasting System and Life, Time and Newsweek magazines said Kennedy himself threw open government files to two Saturday Evening Post reporters, one of them a close, personal friend, to prepare a chronology of what happened. It was quite a chronology.

Last week the Post came out with a story on what happened and who said what. It was well documented, too full of direct and indirect quotes, to have been dreamed up.

The Post's secret outing in the government is the Central Intelligence Agency. The Post even quoted CIA men directly and indirectly, including a telephone conversation with McGeorge Bundy, Kennedy's special assistant. And Monday night a CBS correspondent said Bundy supplied much of the material for the Post article.

Pierre Salinger, White House press secretary, said the life story pointing the finger at the president is "absolutely and completely without foundation."

But there has been no indication from the White House that Kennedy has ordered an investigation of the leak or intends to do anything about it. And meanwhile the Washington Evening Star backs up the Life story. It said Monday:

"Competent sources told The Star that Mr. Kennedy did tell his advisers to cooperate with the Post reporters, and that some of them refused to do so."

The Star said Defence Secretary Robert McNamara was one who refused.

The president will be asked about all this at his press conference Wednesday. Unless he discloses more than the White House has been willing to so far the whole subject will remain a sore.

This basic issue—who talked to reporters about what happened at the secret council meeting—got lost sight of for a while in the uproar caused by what The Post said was Adlai Stevenson's role in the council session.

QUOTES OFFICIAL

The Post quoted a "non-official" as saying Stevenson, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, "wanted a March" by making concessions to the Russians instead of insisting on a showdown.

Stevenson would seem to understand Stevenson's position in the Kennedy administration and at the United Nations. Stevenson promptly and repeatedly denied The Post account. He said his view was the opposite.

Kennedy finally, but after some days, let it be known that Stevenson had backed his decision to have a showdown. But at no time has Kennedy either criticized The Post story or denied its accuracy.

Kennedy did not say that Stevenson had not first proposed concessions to Russia. That Stevenson supported Kennedy's decision, once it was made, can be taken for granted. His usefulness would be ended if he didn't.

Kennedy called on his council to get the members' advice. It has to be assumed that each would give his most honest advice, even if it disagreed with that of everyone else in the room.

NEEDS OPINIONS

It is out of the different opinions, and the conflict of opinions, that the president could reach a decision.

Even if Stevenson at first had advised concessions, this should hardly justify the public belittling inflicted upon him by the "non-official" in The Post article.

But, just because there was a leak on what happened and because Stevenson was belittled two serious questions are left:

1. The next time there is a crisis, and Kennedy calls his council into secret session, will the events there be played out to the public later? If so, then what is a leaking does secrecy have?

2. After The Post disclosure—particularly after what happened to Stevenson—will council members in the future be willing to give a frank opinion when the odds are high of the outcome is unfavorable it will be leaked?

RELEASE ITINERARY

LONDON (Reuters)—The provisional itinerary for the visit to North America next month by Jo Grimond, British Liberal party leader, was released today. Grimond plans to meet President Kennedy Jan. 18, and to address the Council of Foreign Relations in Chicago Jan. 17. The next day he is expected to visit Ottawa.

US Has Two Basic Means Of Keeping News Secret

WASHINGTON (AP)—It's not only paper; it's people. Stamp a document "secret" or don't talk. The U.S. government has those two basic ways to keep information from the public. The excuse is the general good.

The idea is to prevent release of certain kinds of information which might hurt national security. Some times this is justified. Some times it's not and is overdone. Two examples of overdoing it:

1. The Pentagon several years ago concealed information on the number of transport planes used to ferry officials abroad. The ban was lifted under protest from Congress.

2. The Migratory Bird Conservation Commission and the Indian Arts and Crafts Board had the right to make documents secret. This happened under President Eisenhower's administration. The reason was not sinister.

FORGET GROUPS

Some of his aides, in a grand gesture giving all kinds of articles the right to withhold documents, forgot to exclude the Bird Commission and the Arts and Crafts Board.

The planes, the birds and the crafts illustrate the reason for the endless dispute between Congress and news media on one side and, on the other, the government and some of its overly secret-minded officials.

The squabbling now is with the Kennedy administration. But it has a history.

After the censorship of the Second World War, far more secrecy was needed—and was imposed by the government—in the cold war—than in any previous peacetime period. President Truman's administration wrestled with plans for withholding certain information, the so-called "classified" material. In 1951 he finally issued regulations for such classification. They were too sweeping, needed revision.

REVISED PLAN

In 1953 Eisenhower kept the plan but did revising, and more of it later. Yet in 1956 one official told Congress he Policemen at Detroit's 2nd Precinct were asking this question Monday. It seems Car 280, an unmarked vehicle, was stolen from the garage connected to the station house on Vernor Highway.

Police tried to call the car back to the garage. "Car 280—where are you," the sergeant pleaded.

Whoever took it wasn't talking.

"Whoever swung with it," remarked one officer, "is having lots of fun driving around listening to us try to catch him."

Elevator Group's Boss Asks Railroads Question

WINNIPEG (CP)—The president of a grain elevators association, questioned today whether it is public policy for the farmer to serve the railway, rather than the railway to serve the farmer.

Cecil Lamont, president of the North-West Line Elevators Association, was answering criticism by CNR President Donald Gordon of Western Canadian grain handling.

The answer came in a letter, released today, that was sent to Mr. Gordon. Copies were sent to members of the House of Commons and Senate, since made recently before a parliamentary committee on railways.

The letter referred specifically to Mr. Gordon's suggestion that grain handling in Western Canada has changed very little since the First World War and that small grain elevators on branch lines should be replaced by master elevators on main railway lines.

BECOME GHOST TOWNS

Mr. Lamont said in his letter Mr. Gordon's abandonment plan would cause disruption "through turning hundreds of now-prosperous towns and villages into ghost communities."

A great evolution has taken place in western grain handling methods in the last 50 years, he said. Some 2,313 country elevators with an average capacity of 25,000 bushels had grown to 5,226 elevators with a total capacity of 367,471,316 bushels, an average of 70,316 bushels.

Many small granaries on branch lines, some with a capacity of 30,000 bushels, could handle as much as 300,000 bushels in a year as long as transportation for the grain is available.

He said Mr. Gordon's "master elevator" plan "can only be accomplished without regard to the cost to the farmer and with disregard to the capital cost of such an innovation."

Outcome Of PEI Election Gives Tories Some Comfort

OTTAWA (CP)—Re-election Monday of the Prince Edward Island Conservative government in the third of four provincial contests within a month was comfort, but of a chilly sort, for the Conservative federal government.

The reduced majority accorded Premier Walter Shaw in the island province was cause, on the other hand, for some modest jubilation in the Liberal party.

Mr. Shaw went into the election campaign with 22 of the 30 seats in the legislature. He emerged from the straight two-party contest with 19.

Prince Edward Island election results must be analyzed in their proper context.

For one thing, it was a straight two-way contest in a province in which Social Credit and New Democratic parties—if they exist at all—are discounted as political forces. They ran no candidates.

For another, the election is seen almost entirely in the light of federal issues or reflection of federal issues or federal party politics.

NOT AN INDICATOR

On both counts, Monday's voting could hardly be regarded as an index of national political thinking or an indicator of what might be the result in a national election at this time.

The P.E.I. contest followed elections last month in Quebec and Newfoundland, in which Liberal governments were returned to power hadily. A fourth provincial vote takes place Friday in Manitoba.

The Conservatives, finding little if anything to cheer about in Quebec and Newfoundland, are looking hard for straws in the wind indicating growing affection for them among the electorate.

A Conservative headquarters official thought he found some in last week's New Brunswick provincial byelection, in which two Conservatives won seats in the district already held by provincial leader Cy Sheppard.

He also saw Conservative strength locally in the re-election of Charlotte Whitton as mayor of Ottawa, and in the victory of Donald Summerville as mayor of Toronto. Mr. Summerville, he said, is a Conservative, and only a Conservative could succeed Conservative Mayor Nathan Phillips.

From the Liberal party's point of view, however, the Prince Edward Island result meant a gain in yards. The Liberals see it as a narrowing of the advantage the Conservatives now have federally.

Quebec's Education System At Fault Not CNR—Crump

TORONTO (CP)—N. R. Crump, president of CPPI, defended the president of the CNR Monday by saying the Quebec approach to education, not CNR discrimination, is responsible for any lack of French-speaking Canadians in high positions in Canadian railways.

After the first meeting of the CPR directors to be held in Toronto, Mr. Crump said at a press conference:

"A classical education doesn't tend to fit into our type of situation. Most young French graduates have wanted a profession. Young French people are not particularly attracted to railways."

Donald Gordon, president of the CNR, has been burned in

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES PROBE

Ex-FBI Agent Accuses Women's Group

WASHINGTON (AP)—A former FBI agent interrupted a hearing of a House of Representatives subcommittee on un-American activities Tuesday with a shouted demand that it discontinue its inquiry into the organization Women Strike for Peace.

The former agent, Jack Levine, who previously gained attention with criticisms of FBI methods, was hustled from the crowded hearing room by police.

Levine's interruption came after Mrs. Blanche Posner of Scarsdale, N.Y., had given the subcommittee an emotional lecture about straitjacketing and nuclear war but refused to answer all questions.

Committee counsel Alfred Nittle said the committee had information that Mrs. Posner was a member of the Communist party while teaching in New York City public schools between 1933 and 1935.

She declined to answer when asked if she was an official of Women Strike for Peace.

SHOUTS AT CHAIRMAN

As Mrs. Posner's testimony heard its end, Levine strided down the aisle and shouted:

"Mr. Congressman! I am a patriotic citizen and a former FBI agent. I petition you to discontinue these proceedings before you heap disgrace on the American people."

The throng of up to 100 in the room gave Levine thunderous applause as police pounced on him.

Outside, speaking before television cameras, Levine said he was convinced the committee hearings were "a very naked attempt to smear the American peace movement."

"I don't know for a fact if there are any Communists or former Communists in the peace organizations, but I am quite convinced they have no significant control over them," he said. "If you look hard enough you might find a Communist in the Boy Scouts."

Bigger Fruit Crop Reported

OTTAWA (CP)—Crops of apples, pears, apricots, sweet cherries, grapes and blueberries were larger in 1962 than last year, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported Tuesday.

Estimated crop totals for 1962, with last year's figures in brackets:

Apples, 18,000,000 bushels (17,100,000); pears 1,681,000 bushels (1,477,000); plums and prunes 412,000 bushels (378,000); peaches 2,348,000 bushels (3,075,000); apricots 306,000 bushels (265,000); sweet cherries 423,000 bushels (306,000); sour cherries 216,000 bushels (326,000); strawberries 20,768,000 quarts (23,022,000); raspberries 8,649,000 quarts (9,469,000); loganberries 1,112,000 pounds (1,203,000); grapes 85,592,000 pounds (83,237,000); and blueberries 18,219,000 pounds (18,063,000).

Intermarriage As Answer To Singapore Race Problem

SINGAPORE (Reuters)—The different races of Singapore and Malaya are being urged by a Singapore government adviser to intermarry as a way of improving race relations here.

The inter-racial marriages are being recommended by Inche Mahim Ishak, political adviser to Singapore's ministry of culture, at a time when negotiations are in progress for the formation of a federation of Malaysia—a merger of Singapore, Malaya, Brunei, Sarawak and North Borneo.

Ishak pointed out in a speech that although the various races in Singapore and Malaya had lived together for centuries they had always kept themselves in social compartments, divided, dissatisfied and suspicious of each other.

"South America, and to a lesser extent the United States, are the outstanding examples of how diverse peoples can mix," he declared.

"It is said that in South America, one can see a blonde Negro talking to a Chinese red-head, and I should like to see in Malaya more of such racially nondescript specimens who, I am sure, would make excellent Malaysians."

ONE LANGUAGE

He appealed to all sections of the community to give up communal schools, and encourage multi-racial schools based on the national language—Malay.

In Singapore and Malaya, the main racial groups are Malay and Chinese, with a large number of Indians, and small groups of a dozen other races. In the three Borneo territories, the main racial groups are again Malay and Chinese, with various Melanesian tribes adding a more varied inter-racial aspect to the proposed Malaysian federation.

Over-all, there has been little inter-marriage among these main racial groups.

European blood has mingled with all groups to form the group loosely known as "Eurasians," many of whom now are prominent in medicine, law, politics, trade unionism and commerce in both Singapore and Malaya.

However, intermarriage between people of the Chinese and Malay races has been rare.

Light Panels In UN Basement Give Advance Fire Warning

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—In a small room beneath United Nations headquarters a man sits in front of a row of light panels waiting for a telltale flash he hopes will never come.

At eight-hour intervals other men enter the chamber and take up the lonely vigil.

These monitors watch around the clock for the warning light which would indicate fire had broken out in one of the vital communications areas of the $100,000,000 secretariat building and assembly hall.

Fire is only one hazard kept under surveillance in the basement room which is the nerve center of the UN's complex safety control system.

Lining the walls are dozens of lights—cells of a giant electric brain—each ready to flash a message in case of a breakdown in the machinery that keeps the vast establishment going.

Should one of the eight night security guards who patrol the building fall ill or run into foul play, an electric eye at his next checkpoint would "ring an alarm" telling the brain he was behind schedule.

SOUNDS CODE ALARM

A wisp of smoke drifting through the library building or records room would start a network of horns chattering in code that would guide investigators directly to the trouble point.

Fire is the chief threat in the teeming headquarters, which during the assembly session is jammed by up to 12,000 persons.

To ensure their safety, the UN keeps 12 professional firemen on duty and has taught its army of guards how to evacuate the building without panic or confusion in case a blaze does break out.

The elaborate program has paid off. Aside from an occasional wastebasket fire, there has been only one real blaze at the East River headquarters. And that was put out so quickly only a handful of people knew about it.

"The fire broke out four years ago when a contractor was decorating an office on the 15th floor," said Louis Mayan, UN security chief. "A spark apparently touched off a can of paint and suddenly the whole room was ablaze."

TAKE QUICK ACTION

The system flashed word to the nerve center and firemen reached the scene in three minutes. A half-hour later the fire was out, leaving about $4,000 damage but no casualties.

The department, in operation 16 years, has all the equipment of a regular fire department.

As a reporter asked questions in the nerve center, the phone rang and the monitor on duty answered.

"It's one of the wine stewards," he told the control center chief, Joseph Cahill. "He's going into the fourth-floor stock room."

As he spoke, a panel light began to twinkle in alarm.

"See," Cahill declared, "we even make sure the liquor is safe."

Skybolt Row To Warm Up

LONDON (CP)—Two British newspapers report there may be "unpleasant" demands from both sides in talks on the supply of the American Skybolt missile to Britain.

U.S. Defence Secretary McNamara and British Defence Minister Peter Thorneycroft meet in London today to discuss the supply of the air-launched nuclear missile by the U.S. to the RAF.

The U.S. defence chief faces critical questions from British officials on reported plans to cancel the Skybolt program.

Word got out last week that the U.S. defence department had decided to drop all money from next year's military budget for the Skybolt, a nuclear-headed missile designed to be fired from bombers at targets 1,000 miles away.

The Skybolt had been intended for the U.S. B-52 bomber and the British Vulcan bomber. On the strength of this, the British junked their own program for developing land base missiles, and agreed to buy the Skybolt.

DECISION NOT FINAL

The reported U.S. decision—which is not yet final—spells trouble for the government of Prime Minister Macmillan.

The Daily Mail says Macmillan and Thorneycroft "appear ready to strain the Anglo-U.S. alliance to the limit to save Britain's H-bomb force."

The paper says, "Their one ace is a threat to close the U.S. nuclear submarine and air bases in Britain if this country is knocked out of the nuclear deterrent business by the cancellation of the Skybolt."

Chinaman On Drug Charge

VANCOUVER (CP)—A 50-year-old Chinese was charged today with illegally importing narcotics worth $50,000 on the underworld retail market.

Goh Ah Hong, believed from the Orient, was arrested by RCMP Monday night and appeared in police court today.

RCMP said the narcotics, in brick form, contained high-grade morphine.

Staff-Sgt. E. A. Gosling said it was the first time narcotics had been encountered in this form on the west coast.

Police said the narcotics came from Singapore but would not disclose the method used to bring them into Canada.

RCMP said the current price of heroin in Vancouver is still $15 a capsule, compared with the $5-a-capsule price prevailing before a massive roundup of drug traffickers earlier this year.

S. Africa 'Ticket' Decision Scars Race Borderlines

CAPE TOWN (AP)—The South African government's decision to make identity cards compulsory pocket fare starting next February has terrified thousands of people who live now on the racial borderline—the coloreds who pass as whites.

Applying for a card could radically change, even wreck, the lives they have been living. Their white standard salaries and their way of life in the guise of Europeans may be gone.

Many have been sending their children to white schools, living in white areas, holding down jobs as whites, mixing with white friends and enjoying white social amenities.

They face humiliation and even ruin if the legally designated racial classification of Eurafrikan appears on the small green, plastic card bearing photograph and personal particulars.

A lawyer quoted in the local press says there are about 20,000 borderline cases in the Cape Peninsula alone and that large numbers have not yet applied for their identity cards, though the machinery for obtaining them has been operating for seven years. He said they "don't dare risk classification for their own sakes and those of their relatives."

TOUGH QUESTIONS

Borderline cases who want to be classified as white have to fill in forms containing searching personal questions. These include:

1. Are your friends exclusively white or colored persons, or do they belong to both racial groups?

2. Furnish the names and full addresses of three of your most intimate friends (not relatives) and state how long you have been friends.

3. Are you, your wife or children employed as white or colored persons?

4. Do you attend cinemas for white or colored persons?

5. Since when have you or your wife or children been usually accepted as white persons?

6. Do you reside in a white, colored or mixed residential area?

7. Do you travel on trains and buses as white or colored persons?

Applicants must signify their agreement that their intimate friends can be approached "for a statement to the effect that they regard and accept me as a white person."

According to a statement issued in the capital, Pretoria, at the end of October there were then about 200,000 whites who had not yet got their identity cards, and about 400,000 coloreds and Asians.

The penalty for not having a card when they become compulsory is a fine up to $140.

Canada's Inflow Of Capital Rises

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada had a capital inflow of $23,000,000 during October from international trade in outstanding stock and bond issues, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported Tuesday.

It was the largest inflow from this source since May, 1961, and was the third consecutive monthly inflow following six months of unusually large capital outflows.

United States residents continued to be large buyers of Canadian securities, the bureau reported, while overseas investors continued to dispose of Canadian securities holdings.

Tuesday's report does not include figures on sales of new stock and bond issues to foreign investors.

During October sales of outstanding Canadian bond and debenture issues produced a capital inflow of $21,500,000. There was an outflow of $1,900,000 resulting from trade in outstanding Canadian stocks, with repurchases of foreign-held stocks by Canadians largely offset by sales of some Canadian oil stocks to foreign interests.

Trade in foreign securities issues produced a $3,400,000 capital inflow.

NO HALFPENNIES
LONDON (CP)—No halfpennies were minted last year for the first time since 1860. The Royal Mint's annual report says it is fairly certain the coin is nearing its end. Farthings, worth a quarter of a penny, were taken out of circulation in 1960.

Chualo Drops Manager In First Comeback Step

TORONTO (CP) — George Chualo, almost a forgotten man among heavyweights shed his manager and left for Detroit today to start on a comeback at the tender age of 25.

"If I wanted to be a painter," said George, "I'd move to a place where there's a better environment for painting. But I want to be a fighter, so I'm moving to a city where there's a better environment for fighting."

Chualo, once ranked fifth among world heavyweights and former Canadian champ, intends to manage himself for a while.

Jack (Deacon) Allen, veteran handler of boxers in Toronto, has been Chualo's manager for the last five years.

Allen announced Tuesday he had severed his connections with Chualo, but "the decision was not of my making."

"It's been in the air for the last year," said Chualo. "It finally came to a head yesterday. We parted on a mutual understanding and there are no hard feelings—we're still good friends."

Allen said there were still 10 months to go on their five-year contract but that George had asked for his release.

"He's one of the best heavyweights Canada has ever had," said the Deacon. "He's never been knocked down, not even in the gym. I still have uncertainty to reach the top if he applies himself to it."

Chualo, who fights at 207 pounds, now weighs 213 and hasn't had a fight in more than a year. In 28 professional bouts he has won 22-16 knockouts—lost five and had one draw.

His last fight was Oct. 2, 1961, against Joe Erskine of Wales. Chualo lost that one at Toronto on a fifth-round disqualification.

"I've had seven or eight bouts for him since then, all against top fighters," said Allen. "But he didn't take them."

"I didn't want to take them with things being the way they were," said Chualo referring to his differences with the Deacon. "It wasn't a question of turning them down—I never turned down a fight in my life."

Jockey Bill Hartack Tumbles From Mount

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Ace jockey Bill Hartack spent the night in hospital after falling from a horse at tropical park Tuesday.

Doctors said he suffered only bruises and shock and planned to release him today.

There was no word on when he would ride again.

Hartack's mount, Looking Ahead, apparently shied away from a reflection on the track. Running far back of the pack, the horse veered to the outside as he approached the stretch turn.

Hartack fell to the inside. He landed feet first, tumbled over, tried to get up and fell back on the ground.

NHL Statistics Indicate Scorers Having Trouble

Is the netminding better in the National Hockey League? Or are the forwards off their shooting turn?

Whatever the answer, NHL goalies have allowed only 430 goals to date, exactly 30 fewer than were scored in the same number of games last year.

The statistics indicate that some of last season's high scorers are having trouble.

For example, New York Rangers' Andy Bathgate led the individual scoring race at this date last year with 37 points.

This year, Chicago's Stan Mikita is leading the scoring parade with 26 points. At this point last year, eight players had 26 or more points.

So far, nobody is averaging a point a game—the pace set by Bathgate and Bobby Hull of Chicago last season in tying for the scoring title with 84 points in 70 games.

A year ago, Claude Provost of Montreal Canadiens led the league in goals with 17, and was in second place in scoring with 32 points, five less than Bathgate.

Canucks-Stamps Deadlocked 3-3

Rookie goal tender Gilles Villeneuve of Vancouver Canucks turned in a spectacular 33-stop performance Tuesday night as the Canucks and Calgary Stampeders played to a 3-3 overtime tie.

The deadlock left the Canucks in second place in the Western Hockey League's Northern Division. Cellar-dwelling Calgary, undefeated in three straight games, are within a point of the third-place Edmonton Flyers.

Dale McDonald, Milan Marcetta and Lou Jankowski scored for the Stamps before 1,753 hometown fans. Dave Duke, Bob McCusker and Jim Baird were the Canucks marksmen.

Roy Edwards, in the Calgary nets, was called on to make only 23 stops.

Villeneuve, from Trois-Rivières, Que., made 12 saves in the first frame, 17 in the second, 19 in the third and five in the overtime period.

Edwards stopped seven in the first, five in the second, eight in the third and three in the overtime period.

In tonight's action, the Canucks visit the Flyers and San Francisco Seals go to Spokane.

HAMPERED BY INJURY

Today, Toronto's Frank Mahovlich leads in goals with 15.

Bathgate led in assists a year ago with 26—enough to put him into a tie for the league scoring lead this year.

Today the smooth-skating Rangers' right-winger is tied for the league in assists with 17. Mikita and Detroit centre Alex Delvecchio share the lead.

Mikita was tied for 12th place in league scoring a year ago. Linemate Al McDonald, now tied for second spot in scoring with Bathgate with 25 points each, was tied for 38th place last season with 16 points.

Detroit's Parker MacDonald, today occupies 12th spot in the league scoring race with 21 points, while a year ago he was floundering in the minors.

REPEAT PERFORMANCE

Five players among the league's top 10 scorers today ranked among the top 10 a year ago. Besides Bathgate and Mahovlich, they are veterans Bernie Geoffrion of Montreal, Gordie Howe of Detroit and Johnny Bucyk of Boston.

This year's lowest goals-against averages belongs to Chicago's Glenn Hall with 2.11, while a year ago Toronto's veteran Johnny Bower led netminders with a 2.33 goals-against average.

The Canadian crew was made up of Eldon Woroboff, Tom Gray, Marc Lemieux and Peter Browne, with Ashley Lucky as cox.

However, the Canadian pair of Bob Stubbs and M. Gifford was held to a third-place finish by local boats.

Liston Is Ready To Defend Crown

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Sonny Liston is reported ready to defend his world heavyweight boxing crown against light-heavyweight king Harold Johnson unless he is paid within a week.

Johnson, 31, claims he has coming from his bout with Floyd Patterson.

The report came Tuesday night in a story by Ray Grody in the Milwaukee Sentinel.

Grody said he received the information from Jack Nilon, a Liston adviser. A fight with Johnson probably would be held in Philadelphia next March, the story said.

Liston filed suit in a New York court Monday seeking an order directing the United States Internal Revenue Service to "forthwith pay over" to him $207,000 which was part of the $1,370,517 impounded by the IRS after Liston's deposed Patterson last September in Chicago.

"There's no use talking about a rematch with Patterson when we haven't even been paid for the first fight," Grody quoted Nilon as saying.

Los Angeles Angels Trade Earl Averill

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Philadelphia Phillies sent outfielder Jack Davis to Los Angeles Angels of the American League Tuesday for catcher Earl Averill.

It was a straight player deal.

Davis, 24, played in 48 games with the National League Phils last season and had a .213 batting average.

Bears' Halfback NFL Top Rookie

NEW YORK (AP) — Ronnie Bull, Chicago Bears' fine running halfback, was named rookie of the year in the National Football League today by an Associated Press committee of sports writers and broadcasters from the 14 league cities.

Bull, the Bears' No. 1 draft choice a year ago after leading Baylor in running and pass receiving for three straight seasons, started his pro career working on defence. After a succession of injuries to Willie Gailimore, Rick Casares, Charley Rivins and Joe Marconi crippled the Bears, Bull moved to offence.

Although Bull carried the ball only nine times for 26 yards and did not catch a pass in the Bears' first three games, his figures through the 13th game last Sunday show 372 yards in 103 carries for a 3.6-yard average and 29 passes for 324 yards. He has returned nine kickoffs for 235 yards.

From the 39 panelists who participated in the rookie balloting, Bull received 17 votes.

Los Angeles Rams' Merlin Olsen, six-foot-five, 265-pound tackle from Utah State, was a strong second with seven votes. As a lineman on a last-place team, Olsen had to be outstanding to attract that much attention.

under the Kelowna Teddy Bear name, has created a legend in Canadian women's basketball. The move to amalgamate was prompted when both teams realized they would be operating at a minimum of players in the

"B" division, but felt they could make a more creditable showing in the "A" division. Practices are held alternately in Kelowna and Penitents each Tuesday and Thursday night. Bob Hall, coach of the Teddy Bears, will remain as coach of the combined team.

Veteran AL Umpire Enters Retirement

BOSTON (AP) — The retirement of Charlie Berry, American League baseball umpire for 20 seasons, was announced Wednesday by league president Joe Cronin.

At the same time, Cronin named four men to the American League umpiring staff. William T. Valentine from the Pacific Coast League and Louis Dimuro, Walter Doyle and James C. Odom from the International League.

Cronin said Berry, 63, will continue to serve the American League in special assignments, such as scouting young umpires.

He caught for Boston Red Sox from 1928 through 1931, for Chicago White Sox in 1932 and 1933, for Philadelphia Athletics from 1934 through 1938 and served also as coach for Philadelphia from 1936 until July, 1940, when he became manager of Wilmington in the Interstate League.

Berry was an umpire in the International League in 1911 and 1942, when his contract was acquired by the American League.

Iowa State Lineman Signs With Alouettes

Parents Continue Vigil For Toronto Grid Star

TORRONT (CP) — Every night for more than two years one of John Ellwood's parents has come to see him, pray beside him and tell him the news from home.

But doctors doubt the former high school football star hears anything.

John, 21, has been in a coma since Oct. 25, 1960, when he collapsed in a football game with severe brain injuries.

The son of Salvation Army Brig. Thomas Ellwood, he is in a semi-private room at Queen Elizabeth Hospital.

About $16,000 of the cost of John's confinement has been borne by friends, schools and persons who have read of the family's plight.

But the funds will likely be exhausted by mid-February unless new sources are found. One activity being planned is a Salvation Army brass band concert tentatively set for Jan. 14 in North Toronto Collegiate Institute.

'EXPRESSION CHANGES'

Brig. Ellwood, 55, said Tuesday night there are times when his son seems to hear his parents' voices.

"It's hard to explain, but you can sense him as long as we have. His expression changes and his eyelids wrinkle, as if he is concentrating on listening."

TORONTO (CP)—Emergency economic planning with full preservation of all aspects of private enterprise—to define realistic and attainable objectives, an appraisal of the role governments should play in Canada's national economic life and a concerted drive to increase exports.

"This solution requires a willingness to face hard economic facts and a determination to place a higher value on work and earned income than on social security and government support."

"It involves careful fiscal planning and realistic economic assessments to provide strong incentives for the encouragement of new enterprises, new production, additional exports and new jobs."

Mr. McKinnon proposed a three-step solution to Canada's economic problems:

1. Emergency economic planning with full preservation of all aspects of private enterprise—to define realistic and attainable objectives, an appraisal of the role governments should play in Canada's national economic life and a concerted drive to increase exports.
2. This solution requires a willingness to face hard economic facts and a determination to place a higher value on work and earned income than on social security and government support.
3. It involves careful fiscal planning and realistic economic assessments to provide strong incentives for the encouragement of new enterprises, new production, additional exports and new jobs.

Opening lead—three of clubs.

It is well known that more contracts are won or lost on the opening lead than at any other stage of the play. Of course, some players are more gifted than others when it comes to choosing the opening lead, but the fact is that the batting average of almost any player you can name suffers severely when the effectiveness of his opening leads is compared to the rest of his game.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

FOR TOMORROW
Adverse influences now caution that you be careful in financial dealings — especially when buying or selling. Too, the position of the stars is not generous where social activities or romance are concerned. An unexciting day, therefore, in which it would be advisable to stick to routine matters and not expect too much from anybody or anything.

FOR THE BIRTHDAY
If tomorrow is your birthday

your horoscope indicates that you may have to work a little harder to achieve job and financial goals but that the additional effort will pay off by the year's end. Avoid extravagance, and try not to be come involved with friends or family in financial deals. Some difficulties could ensue. Best periods, monetarily speaking, fall between now and late July.

Personal relationships will be governed by good aspects during the coming year, and those with artistic or scientific leanings should find the first three months of 1963 highly stimulating. Look for some interesting romantic developments in June and a chance to travel in early July.

A child born on this day will be constant and conservative and endowed with tremendous building powers.

Minister's Son Held In Boston

BOSTON (AP)—The 22-year-old son of a minister was held today on suspicion of receiving stolen goods after police had questioned him for more than six hours in connection with the strangling of a girl medical student.

Police said the Negro youth walked into headquarters accompanied by two lawyers. They said he told them he had learned he was one of two men sought in the strangling case and had come in to surrender.

Detective Lieut. Edward Sherry said the youth, whose father is a minister in Cambridge, took a lie detector test before he was jailed on the suspicion count.

Sherry said the man admitted being in the Back Bay apartment building where 19-year-old Miss Sophie Clark of Englewood, N.Y., was found strangled.

The Negro girl's body, a silk stocking and petticoat knotted around her neck, was found in her fourth floor apartment last Wednesday.

Police said the youth's father ordered him out of his house several months ago.

Jobless Peak Seen By CLC

OTTAWA (CP)—A postwar unemployment peak may be reached this winter, the Canadian Labor Congress said today in sharply criticizing the federal government's economic policies.

"We are fearful of the future and our apprehension is compounded by the fact that there is a real lack of adequate measures to offset this economic decline," said the 1,050,000-member labor group referring to forecasts of some recession early next year.

It said the economy program initiated by the government last June to meet the foreign exchange crisis has a restrictive effect that will aggravate an already serious unemployment situation.
